

Workday and Kainos Offer a New Service to Help Emerging and Medium Enterprises Deploy Workday in Less Than Four Weeks

LONDON, UK, Dec. 6, 2023 – Workday, Inc. (NASDAQ: WDAY), a leader in enterprise cloud applications for finance and human resources, and Kainos, a leading digital technology company, today announced an expanded collaboration to empower businesses to go live with Workday technology in less than four weeks. The two companies have launched the joint offering “Spark&Grow,” specifically designed to help emerging and medium enterprises to deploy Workday faster.

Spark&Grow is attractive to the rapidly growing and expanding midmarket. Key benefits of the new offering include simplicity, speed, and support. Kainos will deploy Workday Human Capital Management \(HCM\) and Workday Financial Management in a streamlined process, within four weeks, while offering expert guidance and support throughout the deployment journey. Spark&Grow is a monthly subscription offer, giving customers more predictability and flexibility. The offer complements the existing implementation options of Workday Launch and Workday Launch Express.

Through Spark&Grow, customers will receive continued support after they go live through user adoption, training, and ongoing optimisation. Managed services will support customers throughout their transformation journey whenever they need it. As a result, customers see not only time savings, but also savings in team planning.

“With the new offering, we’re breaking barriers and bringing the Enterprise Management Cloud to emerging and medium enterprises,” remarked Rainer Maier, executive vice president, EMEA at Kainos. “This offering is about making exceptional technology accessible and feasible, allowing them to benefit from Workday’s capabilities with fewer cost constraints. We foresee immense value for our customers throughout their growth journey.”

“We are thrilled to join forces with Kainos to introduce an innovative offering that helps growing businesses leverage Workday’s powerful capabilities,” said Angelique de Vries-Schipperijn, president, EMEA at Workday. “This collaboration signifies our shared commitment to empower emerging and medium-sized businesses to embrace digital transformation with cutting edge technology.”
