

Workday Announces Fiscal 2014 Third Quarter Financial Results

Total Revenue of $127.9 Million, up 76% Year Over Year; Subscription Revenue of $93.9 Million, up 82% Year Over Year

PLEASANTON, CA--(Marketwired - Nov 25, 2013) - Workday, Inc. (NYSE: WDAY), a leader in enterprise cloud applications for human resources and finance, today announced financial results for the fiscal third quarter ended October 31, 2013.

- Total revenues for the third quarter were $127.9 million, an increase of 76% from the third quarter of fiscal 2013. Subscription revenues were $93.9 million, an increase of 82% from same period last year.
- Operating loss for the third quarter was $40.4 million, compared to an operating loss of $40.9 million in the same period last year. Non-GAAP operating loss for the third quarter was $19.9 million, compared to a non-GAAP operating loss of $23.5 million last year.¹
- Net loss per basic and diluted share for the third quarter was $0.27, compared to a net loss per basic and diluted share of $0.67 in the third quarter of fiscal 2013. The third quarter non-GAAP net loss per basic and diluted share was $0.12, compared to a non-GAAP net loss per basic and diluted share of $0.39 during the same period last year.¹
- Operating cash flows were $7.1 million in the third quarter. Free cash flows were a negative $9.7 million in the third quarter.²
- Cash, cash equivalents and marketable securities were approximately $1.3 billion as of October 31, 2013. Unearned revenue was $351.8 million, a 40% increase from last year.

"We continue to innovate rapidly across all initiatives," said Aneel Bhusri, chairman, co-founder, and co-CEO, Workday. "In the third quarter, we announced the availability of Workday Big Data Analytics, confirmed that Workday Recruiting is progressing well and on schedule, and we continued our investment in Workday Financial Management, broadening the scope and scale for the world's largest organizations."

"We had a solid third quarter, and we continue to be pleased with our progress as we build for the long term," said Mark Peek, chief financial officer, Workday. "We generated record quarterly revenues and continued our march toward profitability. We also continue to execute well as we expand our operations globally. Looking ahead to the fourth quarter, we expect total revenues to be in the range of $133 to $138 million, or growth of 63% to 69% as compared to the prior year period."

Recent Highlights

- Workday held its seventh annual customer conference, Workday Rising, bringing together more than 3,500 attendees from the Workday community for education and collaboration in San Francisco.
- Workday unveiled plans to build Workday Student, an end-to-end student application for the needs of modern-day higher education institutions.
- The company also announced the availability of Workday Big Data Analytics, a new application that redefines how organizations unify diverse sources, sizes, and structures of data with Workday data to deliver insights business leaders need for critical workforce and financial decisions.

Workday plans to host a conference call today to review its third quarter financial results and to discuss its financial outlook. The call is scheduled to begin at 2:00 p.m. PT/ 5:00 p.m. ET and can be accessed via webcast or through the company's Investor Relations website at www.workday.com/investorrelations. The webcast will be available live, and a replay will be available following completion of the live broadcast for approximately 45 days.

² Free cash flows are defined as operating cash flows minus capital expenditures and property and equipment acquired under capital lease. See the section titled "About Non-GAAP Financial Measures" in the accompanying financial tables for further details.

About Non-GAAP Financial Measures

To provide investors and others with additional information regarding Workday's results, we have disclosed the following non-GAAP financial measures: non-GAAP operating loss, non-GAAP net loss per share, and free cash flows. Workday has provided a reconciliation of each non-GAAP financial measure used in this earnings release to the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure. These non-GAAP financial measures, other than free cash flows, differ from GAAP in that they exclude share-based compensation, employer payroll taxes on employee stock transactions, a one-time charge related to our contribution of 500,000 shares of common stock to the Workday Foundation and non-cash interest expense related to our convertible senior notes, as applicable. Free cash flows differ from GAAP cash flows from operating activities in that it treats capital expenditures and assets acquired under a capital lease as a reduction to cash flows.

Workday's management uses these non-GAAP financial measures to understand and compare operating results across accounting periods, and for internal budgeting and forecasting purposes, for short- and long-term operating plans, and to evaluate Workday's financial performance and the ability of operations to generate cash. Management believes these non-GAAP financial measures reflect Workday's ongoing business in a manner that allows for meaningful period-to-period comparisons and analysis of trends in Workday's business, as they exclude expenses that are not reflective of ongoing operating results. Management also believes that these non-GAAP financial measures provide useful information to investors and others in understanding and evaluating Workday's operating results and future prospects in the same manner as management and in comparing financial results across accounting periods and to those of peer companies. Additionally, management believes information regarding free cash flows provides investors and others with an important perspective on the cash available to make strategic acquisitions and investments, to fund ongoing operations and to fund other capital expenditures.

Management believes these non-GAAP financial measures are useful to investors and others in assessing Workday's operating performance due to the following factors:

- Share-based compensation. Although share-based compensation is an important aspect of the compensation of Workday's employees and executives, management believes it is useful to exclude share-based compensation in order to better understand the long-term performance of our core business and to facilitate comparison of our results to those of peer companies. Moreover, determining the fair value of certain of the share-based instruments we utilize involves a high degree of judgment and estimation and the expense recorded may bear little resemblance to the actual value realized upon the vesting or future exercise of the related share-based awards. Unlike cash compensation, the value of stock options, which is an element of our ongoing share-based compensation expense, is determined using a complex formula that incorporates factors, such as market volatility, that are beyond our control.
- Employer payroll taxes on employee stock transactions. The amount of employer payroll taxes on employee stock transactions is dependent on Workday's stock price and other factors that are beyond our control and do not correlate to the operation of the business.
- Amortization of debt discount and issuance costs Under GAAP, we are required to separately account for liability (debt) and equity (conversion option) components of the convertible senior notes that were issued in private placements in June 2013. Accordingly, for GAAP purposes we are required to recognize the effective interest expense on our convertible senior notes and amortize the issuance costs over the term of the notes. The difference between the effective interest expense and the contractual interest expense and the amortization expense of issuance costs are excluded from management's assessment of our operating performance because management believes that these non-cash expenses are not indicative of ongoing operating performance. Management believes that the exclusion of the non-cash interest expense provides investors an enhanced view of the company's operational performance.
- Equity Grant to Workday Foundation During the third quarter of fiscal 2013, Workday granted 500,000 shares of common stock to the Workday Foundation. The Workday Foundation is a non-profit organization established to provide grants, humanitarian relief and employee matching contributions and support volunteerism and social development projects. This grant resulted in a one-time charge of $11.3 million, which was recorded to the General and administrative expenses line of the statement of operation. Management does not expect to make future grants of shares to the Foundation and therefore considers this charge non-recurring. As such, management believes it is useful to exclude this one-time charge in order to better understand the ongoing expenses of our core business and to facilitate comparison of our results across periods.

Additionally, we believe that the non-GAAP financial measure, free cash flows, is meaningful to investors because we review cash flows generated from or used in operations after deducting capital expenditures, whether purchased or leased, due to the fact that these expenditures are considered to be an ongoing operational component of our business.

The use of non-GAAP financial measures has certain limitations as they do not reflect all items of income and expense that affect Workday's operations. Workday compensates for these limitations by reconciling the non-GAAP financial measures to the most comparable GAAP financial measures. These non-GAAP financial measures should be considered in addition to, not as a substitute for or in isolation from, measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. Further, these non-GAAP measures may differ from the non-GAAP information used by other companies, including peer companies, and therefore comparability may be limited. Management encourages investors and others to review Workday's financial information in its entirety and not rely on a single financial measure.
